NEBOSH National General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety

Course description

The National General Certificate is the most widely held health and safety qualification in the UK. It is suitable for managers, supervisors, and staff from all types of organisations who need a broad understanding of health and safety issues. The certificate helps manage risk effectively, providing a valuable overview and a sound basis for further professional study.

Over 200,000 people hold a NEBOSH National General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety. Why? Because it's the gold standard in health and safety qualifications.

It can help to:

- Minimise workplace injuries and illness
- Boost employee wellbeing
- Demonstrate your commitment to health and safety, which can win business
- Strengthen your health and safety culture
- Ensure your organisation has valuable in-house health and safety expertise

Assessment is a two-step process:

NG1 - An open book examination to assess what you know. This is scenario based and will include a closing interview, you will be asked questions about your submission.

NG2 - A practical risk assessment to assess what you can do (3 hours). Learners will complete a risk assessment and develop an action plan for their workplace – this is immediately useful and valuable.

Assessments are marked by external examiners appointed by NEBOSH. These examiners are chosen for their experience and expertise to ensure that learners are assessed by the very best from our industry.

COURSE DURATION: 10 Day Course Ten days classroom based, plus revision, plus an open book examination within a few weeks of the course. Plus trainer based interview following the examination. The NG2 Practical work-based risk assessment project exam is required to be submitted within 2 weeks of the NG1 exam date, for formal marking.
